These Librarians act as liaisons with academic programs. They offer subject-specific reference expertise and instruction sessions, and select books and other materials to add to UNLV Libraries' collections. Contact your liaison librarian to:

• Discuss resources needed by students in your program or for your own research
• Request purchase of books, journals or media items for the collection
• Plan a library assignment to help students develop stronger information literacy skills
• Set up a subject-specific library instruction session in the library or in your classroom
• Talk about your own research and the tools and materials you need
• Get help with searching databases, using RefWorks, or finding information online
