Biographical Note

Political activist Renee Diamond was born in Chicago, Illinois in 1937 and educated at the University of California, Los Angeles. In 1972, she remarried and moved to Las Vegas, Nevada.

Diamond joined the welfare-rights group, Operation Life, and aided them into becoming an economic development organization. She was also an active member in the National Organization for Women (NOW) and worked in the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) campaign and the Campaign for Choice, in addition to serving as co-chair of the Nevada Women's Conference in 1977. She also served on several political campaigns, including the Presidential campaigns of Jimmy Carter, Walter Mondale, and Bill Clinton.

In 1979, Diamond was appointed by United States Senator Howard W. Cannon as the Field Manager for the 1980 Census. Diamond also served as a board member for the Nevada State Board of Museums and History from 1984 to 1989 and sat on the Council of State Governments in 1989. Diamond was active in many organizations throughout her life including St. Jude's Ranch for Children, Focus Youth Services, Domestic Violence Task Force, Clark County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Jewish Federation Community Relations Committee, National Organization for Women, and she founded the Nevada Women's Fund and helped charter the University Library Society.

In 1988, Diamond was elected to the Nevada State Assembly and served one term. She was active in the interim committees on reappointment and teen pregnancy. Her committee assignments also extended to the judiciary, health and welfare, natural resources, mining, and elections. After the completion of her term in 1991, Diamond worked as the District Director for United States Congressman James H. Bilbray in Las Vegas.
