Historical Note

In 1861, the Nevada Territory legislative assembly passed a law punishing "the infamous crime against nature," sodomy. The statute, not repealed until 1993, was broadly enforced across the state and created an atmosphere of fear and repression that prevented the development of an active LGBTQ community until the 1970s. Today, the Las Vegas Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer/Questioning (LGBTQ) community exists as an essential element of the Las Vegas, Nevada social, political, and economic environment, supporting and promoting the development and well-being of its members and allies. The community's entertainment and nightclub scene, active social and community organizations, and political advocacy groups inform, entertain, and work to protect and encourage LGBTQ individuals and groups often marginalized by larger society.
