Historical Note

Before 1978, psychiatrists from Nevada, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming participated in the Inter-Mountain Psychiatric Association (IPA). In 1978, the IPA dissolved, and psychiatrists from Northern Nevada formed the Nevada Association of Psychiatric Physicians (NAPP). That same year, NAPP merged with the Las Vegas Psychiatric Society, which had been holding monthly meetings in local hospitals. NAPP later changed its name to the Nevada Psychiatric Association (NPA). Part of NAPP's mission (and NPA's ongoing objectives) was to cooperate with the American Psychiatric Association to spread information about psychiatry and promote professional standards.

Scope and Contents Note

The records of the Nevada Association of Psychiatric Physicians (NAPP) document the professional association's membership, activities, and advocacy from 1984 to 2000. The records include membership lists, officers' documents, membership guidelines, plans for annual meetings, monthly meeting minutes, staff directories for local hospitals, achievement awards, attendance records, and publications. Also included are financial records, travel reports, and conference agendas. Additional information pertains to several psychiatric areas of interest, including child development and compulsive gambling.
