Historical Note

The UNLV University Libraries began collecting the menus that form the UNLV University Libraries Menu Collection in the 1970s. Special Collections librarians worked closely with the administration of UNLV's College of Hotel Administration (today the William F. Harrah College of Hospitality) to add to the collection. Jerome "Jerry" Vallen, the first dean of the College of Hotel Administration, donated many of his own menus to the collection. Students in the hotel administration program used the menus to study food history and menu design.

Special Collections and Archives Division continued to actively collect menus throughout the 1980s. Special Collections staff developed a relationship with the National Restaurant Association and received menus annually from restaurants that received menu design awards. Library staff and friends brought back menus from their travels. Donations from several individuals, including Dr. S.R. Shapiro, Vern Lanegrass, Muriel Stevens, and Ed Warren expanded the collection significantly.
