Historical Note

---

The Walking Box Ranch is a 160-acre ranch in Searchlight, Nevada which was once owned by silent film stars Rex Bell and Clara Bow from the 1930s through the 1940s. Rex Bell (née George Francis Beldam) purchased the ranch in 1931 from the Rock Springs Land and Cattle Company. Walking Box Ranch got its name from the ranch brand: a movie camera on a tripod. Bow and Bell had a 5,000 square foot Spanish Revival home built on the property that also served as a working cattle ranch. Rex Bell, Jr. (née Rex Larbow Beldam) was born to Bell and Bow in 1934, and he grew up with his brother George (born in 1938) on the ranch until his parents separated in the mid-1940s. Bell, Sr. sold the ranch to Karl "Cap" Weikal in 1951. Rex Bell, Sr. went on to serve as Lieutenant Governor of Nevada from 1955 until his death in 1962.

Rex Bell, Jr. served as the Clark County Deputy District Attorney and also held one term as Lieutenant Governor. He died in 2011.

Weikal continued to use Walking Box as a ranch until he sold the property in 1989 to Viceroy Gold Corporation, which used the ranch as an executive retreat. The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) purchased the ranch in 2005. The ranch was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 2009 for its association with cattle ranching and its architectural significance.

Access

Collection is open for research.

Publications Note

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyrights and other rights. See Reproductions and Use on the UNLV Special Collections website for more information about reproductions and permissions to publish.

Acquisition Note

Material was donated by Dorothy Bell to the University of Nevada, Las Vegas Public Lands Institute. The collection was transferred to UNLV Special Collections in 2014 as two separate accessions. Accession numbers: 2014-055 and 2014-062.

Processing Note

The collection was minimally processed by Karla Irwin in 2014 at the time of accessioning. To prepare the inventory, the described materials were reviewed to create a contents list, estimate dates, and identify material types. In 2018 the map was flattened and encapsulated in mylar for preservation purposes.
