Biographical Note

Clark County Recorder, Joan Swift, was born in Wisconsin and moved to Southern Nevada during World War II. She began working in the Recorder's Office in 1945 when she was 18 years old. She left after one year to marry and raise two sons before returning to work in the Recorder's Office in 1955, where she worked until her retirement in 1993. Swift served as Clark County Recorder from 1974-1993. She was active professionally in organizations such as the County Fiscal Officers Association, where she also served as President in 1982, Women's Democratic Club of Clark County, and the American Society for Public Administrators. In 1992 she was named Public Official of the Year by the National Association of County Recorders, Election Officials and Clerks (NACRC).
