Biographical Note

Nevada historian and advertising executive William V. "Bill" Wright was the general manager of the Las Vegas Review-Journal from 1966 to 1981. Born in Corsicana, Texas in 1917, he was educated at the University of Missouri, where he earned a degree in journalism. He worked at the Peoria Star in Peoria, Illinois as an advertising sales representative before moving to Las Vegas, Nevada with his wife Annelle in 1941. Beginning in 1945, Wright was the advertising director for the Review-Journal, and in 1966 was appointed general manager. Under his leadership, the Review-Journal's subscriptions increased from 48,000 to 89,000, cementing it as the largest daily newspaper in Nevada.

Wright was also an avid amateur historian and collector, and he worked with several civic organizations for the preservation of Nevada history, including the Nevada Historical Society and State Museum, for which he served as a member of its board of trustees from 1977 to 1993. He was chairman of the board from 1979 to 1993. In 1980, he was given the Distinguished Nevadan Award by the University of Nevada, Las Vegas for his contributions to the state. Just after his death in 1998, he was posthumously inducted into the Nevada Newspaper Hall of Fame. William V. Wright Elementary School was named in his honor.
